

What I did on my summer vacation

As we planned a summer trip to California to visit family, I knew I wanted to include a stop to see Jeanne Rose, if she could take time to see me. Typical of people in the aromatherapy field, she was extremely welcoming and generous with her time.

Jeanne Rose is an amazing lady! At 70 years young, she is brilliant. She is one of the Grand Dames of aromatherapy, especially in the fields of hydrosols and distillation. She is also the founder of the Aromatic Plant Project (www.aromaticplantproject.com), which is all about the agriculture of aromatic plants, aromatherapy education and information on hydrosols.

As a gardener/aromatherapist, I found her knowledge of both plants and essential oils impressive! I hope to take her herbal studies course at some point. I am definitely a lifelong learner, and meeting people like Jeanne Rose inspires and motivates you to learn more!
